Eminent divines, to whom the Church looked for interpretation, were found to differ, and the Church was thrown into confusion. Truth seemed to conflict with truth. Denominational differences are the outcome. The world is not able to see that the Churches, having common feuds and conflicting interests, speak with one voice upon the profoundest of all questions. So faith is lost in the Churches and in their Book. We can never feel that the kingdom of heaven is making due speed until the Churches learn that old maxim: In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, charity. Again, we may account for this want of implicit faith in the Bible by the fact that we are living in a scientifically peculiar age--an age when investigation knows no sacred precincts. The holy of holies is but vulgar ground beneath its feet. Every thing must be reduced to the lifeless bondage of a formula; every burst of poesy or inspiration must be tightly buttoned in the stiff garb of logic. Every opening bud must be dissected beneath the microscope, while its fragrance--all there is of worth in it--flits laughing away unseen. The labyrinth of nature has nothing too delicate to be thrown into the scales and weighed by avoirdupois, nor too precious to be dragged into the laboratory and analyzed. To the man of science there is no soul in anything. In his irreverent hands even so mysterious a thing as life itself has come to...
